ST. LOUIS HAPPY
Airmen Receive $100
For Every Hour Over
Old Mark.

LAMBERT FIELD, ST.
LOUIS, July 24.—(INS.)—Nearly 21 hours ahead of the old world endurance record "The St.
Louis Robin" entered its 268th hour of flying at 10:17 this morning. The engine seemed to be functioning smoothly from the ground but a hint that something might be amiss was contained in a message from Dale Jackson, one of the pilots which read, "several of the cylinders act like they have a toothache."

By ROBERT A. HEREFORD,
International News Service Staff
Correspondent.

LAMBERT FIELD, St. Louis, July 24.—In bald contradiction of the long respected theory that "what goes up must come down" the endurance monoplane "St. Louis Robin," which soared into the air on the sunny morning of Saturday, July 13, showed not the slightest disposition to come down this morning as it entered its twelfth day of consecutive flying.

As the sturdy monoplane, which at 7:17 had added 18 hours of flying to the world record formerly held by the "Angeleno," cruised into its 265 consecutive hour of flying, it began to look as though the jocular "See you Christmas" message by one of the pilots was not so utterly fantastic after all.

Crowd of 50,000 Celebrates.
The brilliant orange-colored monoplane still remains the cynosure for all eyes in the St. Louis district. All eyes turned upward this morning to watch the plane as it droned mono-tonously across the heavens like a great beetle.

A crowd estimated at 50,000 was on the field last night to witness the fireworks demonstration prepared to celebrate the achievement of the "St.
Louis Robin" in breaking the world record.

Dale Jackson and Forrest O'Brien, the two pilots, are now receiving $2,648 a day for every day they continue to stay in the air. The Curtis-Robertson company is paying them $100 an hour for every hour over the record, while other sources are paying the additional $248 a day.

Russia Would Win.
A Britisher Coming.
Our Comic Pop Guns.
New York's Wonders.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE.
(Copyright, 1929, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

J. M. P. has studied war at close range and thinks China would beat Russia. He is mistaken. The Chinese are brave, but peaceful.

Revolution has made the Russians unite, the workers in a feeling of freedom, the peasants in ownership of land.

Nothing has ever happened to unite the Chinese. North China cannot understand the language of South China. Generally speaking, they hate each other.

Wars are won by intelligence and enthusiasm. Intelligence are on the side of Russia.

China will appeal to the League of Nations for "Russia's unlawful acts."

How much attention will the league pay to that appeal?

If Uncle Sam had entered the league it would be simple enough. He would be told, "we have had our big war. It's your turn. Go and stop this Russian-Chinese foolishness."

SIR HERBERT AUSTIN is coming to build Austin automobiles. He tells you they go 83 miles an hour, do 56 miles on one gallon of gasoline.

His "Baby Austin car" has a seven-horsepower engine, weighs 50 pounds, is 3 feet 2 inches long, 3 feet 10 inches wide, will sell for about $500, and Sir Herbert expects it "to be in some way a rival to the Ford."

THE Baby Austin may meet other rivals. Walter Chrysler says that General Wood, president of Sears, Roebuck, is starting a small car to sell for $250 or less. If that comes along, it will be interesting, but it will help not hurt the automobile industry in general.

A nation that bought 2,000,000 buggies a year, who it had 50,000,000 population, could easily buy 5,000,000 automobiles and more a year now.

BRITISH BOMB PERSIAN REBELS

LONDON, July 24.—(INS.)—No confirmation was available here today of reports that British military planes, co-operating with Persian government troops, have bombed a large band of rebels in South Persia.

The rebels, the reports declare, resist the attempts of Riza Khan, Persia's ruler, to westernize the country.
It is reported that 1,000 Persian troops have been killed in the fighting.

The war office and the air ministry declare they have no word from the Near East to confirm or deny the reports.

"SUB" IS "BLOWN" FROM SEA BOTTOM

SAN DIEGO, Cal., July 24.—(INS.)
—The possibility of submarine disasters was declared lessened today as the result of the rescue of the V-4, the navy's largest undersea craft, which,
with its crew of 37 officers and men, was "blown" from the bottom of the Pacific ocean to the surface, 80 feet above, in a test made off Imperial beach.

The giant submarine was raised in 23 minutes by the rescue ship Ortolan by blowing the ballast tanks of the sunken craft.

HOOVER FACES ARMY CUT FIGHT

WASHINGTON, July 24.—(INS.)— In launching a campaign to reduce in cost of national defense, President Hoover today had undertaken a task that brought only defeat to Calvin Coolidge and to virtually every other occupant of the White House since the Civil war.

In setting out to slash army and navy expenditures, Mr. Hoover must win over a hostile congress, which repeatedly has ignored presidential recommendations for "scrimping" in national defense.

COOLIDGE BACK IN WASHINGTON IN "P. C." ROLE

No Crowd to Greet
Erstwhile Chief Executive.

HAND BANDAGED

He Will Witness Proclaiming of Kellogg Treaty.

By GEORGE E. DURNO,
International News Service Staff
Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, July 24.—Calvin Coolidge returned to Washington this morning for the first time since he relinquished the reins of office as president on March 4. He returned to witness the proclaiming of the Kellogg-Briand treaty outlawing war which was conceived under his direction.

The short four and a half months of his absence seemingly had served to make the good people of the nation's capital forget their erstwhile chief executive. When the Federal express, which brought Mr. Coolidge from Northampton, rolled into Union station at 7:05 o'clock this morning there wasn't the slightest vestige of the crowds of old that used to turn out to greet him.

Fell While Fishing.
The former president stood waiting in the vestibule of the last pullman in the train as it crept under the train shed. His left hand and wrist were rather heavily bandaged, and this fact immediately drew comment from the little group that waited to greet him.

"Oh," he explained smilingly, "I fell down while fishing and hurt it, but it's almost well now."

Mr. Coolidge volunteered that he was willing to inaugurate a move to
"make fishing safe for the fisherman."
On the same trip in which he injured his arm, the former president said, his companion fell and severely injured his elbow.

"And I understand," he said, "that Mr. Hoover came back from a fishing trip with a black eye. Something ought to be done to make fishing safe."

Present to welcome Mr. Coolidge to Washington were George Akerson, secretary to President Hoover; Everett Sanders, who was secretary during the Coolidge administration; Col.
Campbell Hodges, military aide to President Hoover; Col. E. W. Starling, assistant chief of the White House secret service detail, and two of the several hundred Washington newspaper men who once followed his every movement closely.

Followed by a porter carrying two light bags and a hat box, this small

Precinct B civic league meeting last night in the East End fire station, nations at the August 13 primaries,

to speak at the session on August 6.

The stand was taken because the league is a non-political organization.
For the same reason no question-

Twelve new members were enroll-

Signs to Warn Motorists Decision was reached to paint two large signs on sections of St. George street by which motorists are to be acquainted with the number of children living on the thoroughfare and the consequent need for care in driving there.

"Already has there been discernible a slowing up of speed on the upper section of St. George street following suggestions from this organization," declared Norman McHenry.
He pointed out that Patrolman Richards is now spending some time at this section and there has been a marked abatement in the speed tendency there.

Mrs. Laura Moore, however, insisted that the speed of automobiles was in no way diminished on lower St.
George street, near its western sec-man be asked to visit that part of the street. Charles Kidd said the re-

COURTROOM, COLUMBUS,
O., July 24.—Three jurors, two women and a man, had been tentatively accepted today at the trial of Dr. James H. Snook, the 49-year-old college professor, for the murder of 25-year-old Miss Theora Hix, his co-ed paramour, when court recessed until one-

CLEVELAND GIRLS HIKE TO TRIAL

COLUMBUS, O., July 24.—(INS.)
—Leaving Cleveland, their home, early yesterday morning, two girls walked all the way to this city to attend the Snook trial.

They were at the court house here at 6 o'clock this morning, and were among the first to gain entrance to the courtroom.

Martha Feldman and Lillian Nollish are the girls who resorted to "hitch-hiking" in order to attend the trial of the deposed Ohio State university professor, who is accused of brutally battering and gashing his "love-nest" sweetheart, Miss Theora Hix, to death.

Avoids Stare of Melvin Hix.
The trial, with its "college background," attracted a huge crowd. Nin-etenths of the spectators were young girls and women. Five bailiffs were required to maintain order in the crowded corridors.

Dr. Snook, the central figure, tall and scholarly looking, sat calmly at the defense counsel table, fingering a gold pencil. He was immaculately dressed in a gray suit.

The defendant avoided the steady glare of Melvin T. Hix, silver-haired father of the slain girl.

Hix, a former school principal, is on the verge of a nervous breakdown, according to his attorney, Mrs. Hix sat beside her husband all forenoon, her head drooped.

Judge Scarlett, before dismissing the prospective jurors collectively, warned them not to discuss the case with anyone and not to read the newspapers.

"This case has received a great deal of publicity," said the judge,
"and there may be some difficulty in getting a jury. It must be tried solely on the testimony of sworn witnesses and without bias or prejudice.

Yellow Creek Road Scheduled For 1930

Tentative Plans Propose New Highway Above Railroad Tracks and One Bridge for Vehicles and Cars Across Creek.

WELLSVILLE, O., July 24.—Improvement of the Wellsville-Stevensville road, or Intercounty highway No. 7, in the vicinity of Yellow Creek will, in all probability, be a part of Jefferson county's road program next year, according to announcement by Forrest Richmond, Toronton, counsel for the Ohio good roads federation.

Contract for surfacing two miles of this road through Empire and Stratton will be awarded by the state highway department this week, and, according to state authorities, no more funds will be expended on this particular section until the route at Yellow Creek has been changed.

Tentative plans call for a new road along the hill above the Pennsylvania railroad tracks and a new traffic bridge would eliminate the two spans now at that point, one of which is used by vehicular traffic and the other by street cars.

A part of this proposed re-routing is in Columbiana county, and it is likely that this county will join with Jefferson county and the state in the work.

COLUMBUS, O., July 24.—Low bids on proposed highway improvements, estimated to cost approximately $1,225,000, were made public today by the state highway department.

Due to various technical defects, the department cancelled projects for roads estimated to cost $884,000. Most of the projects affected by these cancellations will be re-advertised, it was stated.

The canceled projects include: Lorain county—Cleveland-Sandusky road, rebuilding, $175,967; Jefferson county—Ohio river road, two projects, $106,000; Seneca county—Bucyrus-Clyde road, $80,569.

Low bids announced include: Wood county—six miles on the Perrysburg-Fostoria road, four projects, Van Wagner Construction Co., Bowling Green, low on all, $149,205.32 for bituminous macadam, and $167,946.42 for concrete.

Muskingum county: 1.24 miles on the New Concord-Cumberland road, Union township; traffic-bound top-course and girder bridge; Williams & Stone, Columbus, $33,032.34.

Morgan county: 3.17 miles, McConnellsville-Zanesville road, concrete; Davis & Davenport Construction Co., Spencer, $56,826.92.

Stark county: 10.77 miles surface treating, Ravenna-Louisville, Canton-Navarre, and Can. Fallon-Brewster roads; Allied Products Co., Cleveland $7,013.53.

Trumbull county: 3.61 miles, Chagrin Falls-Greenville road; Johnson and Vernon township; bituminous macadam; Mahoning Construction Co., Parkman, O.; $30,000.

IMPROVEMENT BILLS PASSED

Council Enacts Michael Alley Legislation.

City council cleared away legislation for the improvement of Michael alley, paid a bill for the installation of the fire alarm siren and approved the auditor's tentative budget plan for next year at an adjourned meeting last night.

Three steps were necessary to prepare for work in Michael alley. Council first passed the determining ordinance, then approved the auditor's certification of the life of the improvement and the life of the bonds, and then passed the bond ordinance.

It is estimated the work will cost $3,000, of which the city's share is $250, to be paid from gasoline tax receipts.

The auditor's budget plan, which will be forwarded to the county auditor, outlines anticipated expenditures of $60,425.

Bill of $12.50, submitted to the fire department by James Forbes, contractor, for the installation of the siren at the fire station in February, 1928, was certified to the auditor for payment.

TODAY

OUT of date little boys in our army are planning an amusing game. The great "coast defense" guns at Sandy Hook will fire real shells at an imaginary "invading fleet."

The shells will go out nine miles to sea.

And there will be soldiers marching up and down on shore.

If an enemy really did come in ships or in hansom cabs, it would receive a rough welcome.

OF COURSE, if the enemy ever comes, it will come in airplanes launched 100 miles off shore, some flying to Washington, D. C., others to New York, to Boston, Cleveland, Chicago, none of them bothering about our "coast defense" popguns. That's what makes our army maneuvers so charmingly ingenious.

THE port of New York authority seeks to compile "the seven wonders of the port of New York." It is a wonderful port, although it could learn something from Seattle, the great harbor inside of San Francisco's Golden Gate, and the bay that unites Oakland and San Francisco and that could easily accommodate all the floating fleets and hydroplanes of the world.

DOPE FAILS TILT IN DOUBLE-A RACE

The dopsters' tails were freely upset in the double "A" pennant race yesterday, and if today were tomorrow there would be at least one shakeup in the standings of the American Association.

It will take more than one day to affect any changes, and perhaps today can even stem the baseball tide which threatens to swamp Indianapolis in fourth position and Toledo in seventh place.

Columbus performed what must have been a colossal feat to it when the Kansas City aggregation failed to stop the Senators. After nine innings of a whit-and-iron game, Columbus had scored 10 runs, which looked more imposing in the scoreboard than the figure 8, worked out by Kansas City. The latter team did most of the hitting, but the smashes were kept scattered. Columbus did most of the running and won. Kansas City occupies first place in the flag race, and Columbus sixth, only three games behind Louisville in fifth position.

Louisville helped overturn the predictors' buckets when they drew a 9 to 4 decision from St. Paul, which is in second place. The Colonels have promises of better things and they are hoping and praying that they don't go into one of those tragic baseball slumps.

Milwaukee, which has been in the cellar so long that it must seem like home to the beer boys, managed to defeat Toledo, seventh position nine, by a 6 to 5 score. The Madhens are threatened with a slide into the cellar.

The only thing consistent about the games played in the league yesterday was the Minneapolis-Indianapolis double-header.

The first game proved insipid to the fans when Minneapolis drew a 10 to 3 victory.

The second game was one which sport writers gush about but seldom see.

THE greatest wonder of the port of New York is not its 500 miles of protected water front, 150 steamship lines, nine trunk railroads, banking or credit facilities.

The real wonder is the patience and industry of the workers that build the bridges, tunnels and skyscrapers.

They are the real wonders, and nobody pays any attention to them, except for a little while, when they strike.

JESSE POMEROY, who has lived 53 years in Charleston prison for murder, including 41 years in solitary confinement, will be moved to the Bridgewater Hospital for the Criminal Insane.

He last saw the world outside of prison walls in 1876 and will see electric street cars, automobiles, elevated roads, skyscrapers, all for the first time.

WHAT shall we all see, when we come back, a hundred million years hence, if we do come?

Science says the earth will live, safely inhabitable, for hundreds of millions of years more.

What shall we have accomplished in as little as twenty million years, when out civilization will be as old as that of the ants is now?

THE German Bremen comes in, breaking ocean records, shooting mails ahead on a flying machine launched off Fire Island.

The fastest Cunard ship, Mauretania, 20 years old, won't race the Bremen. "But wait until you see our new ship," says the Cunard company.

That's what Mussolini says.

Mrs. Mary C. Stanley, of Chester, near East Liverpool, Ohio, joins the vast ORANGE ROOT army of HEALTH after suffering for years with a dreadful case of stomach trouble which was slowly making an invalid of her. This good lady says: "Early in life I found it profitable many a time to take advice, but never so much as when I took the advice of friends to try ORANGE ROOT for stomach trouble and general rundown condition. I had this ailment so long that I thought to try anything else was a waste of time and money. I had tried everything it seemed, but never found any medicine to get at the cause of my troubles. For years, my stomach refused to function as it should. Food did not digest properly, and everything I ate soured in my stomach. Gas caused bloating, and pain and palpitation of my heart. Unfermented food came up in my throat and mouth. I became shaky and nervous. My sleep was disturbed, and morning found me as tired as the night before. I could feel my strength slipping away from me, day by day. I lost my ambition, and work became a burden. I was in a sorry condition when I started taking ORANGE ROOT Iron & Celery Compound, but after taking 3 bottles and a few of those golden Nuggets, MY HEALTH RETURNED BY LEAPS AND BOUNDS. I can now eat foods that 6 weeks ago would have caused me terrible pains and sickness at the stomach. My nerves are quiet and calm, and I sleep soundly all night long and get up in the mornings feeling refreshed and eager for the day's work. I am always hungry and my whole system is stronger in every way. It has helped me in many ways, and I cannot find words enough to praise like I feel I should." This famous compound of Celery Seeds, Golden Seal, Nux Vomica and IRON is bringing real HEALTH and HAPPINESS to hundreds right here in East Liverpool. If you suffer as Mrs. Stanley did, or have rheumatism, neuritis, nervousness or are weak, and all run-down, lack strength and have no pep, for goodness sake, go at once to MATHEWS MEDICINE STORE, get 3 or 4 bottles of the tonic, a box of the golden Nuggets, take them according to directions, and watch your old time pep return and all your aches and pains disappear. ORANGE ROOT is King of ALL TONICS. A trial will convince you of its intrinsic merits. Prices TONIC $1.25, Nuggets 50c. For sale at all live drug stores here and thruout this whole section.

When the Chrysler-built De Soto Six was designed, special emphasis was placed on its easy riding. Balanced spring suspension, a minimum of unsprung weight, low-hung body, rubber engine mountings and Chrysler-selected hydraulic shock absorbers, front and rear, make the De Soto Six the steadiest riding medium-weight motor car on the road today. De Soto Six takes the turns safely at high speeds; does not tend to swing when suddenly slowed down; rides remarkably easily over the roughest surfaces; and at all times gives the impression of being a far larger, heavier and more expensive car. We invite you to make your own comparison. Pick the worst road and step on the gas. For easy-riding qualities alone, apart from other features of remarkable performance, you will find the De Soto Six considerably superior to any other make of car below $1,000.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 24, 1929.

Every Swimmer a Life Saver

Prompted by the tragic loss of life each year in rivers, lakes and other bathing places, the East Liverpool chapter of the Red Cross will open a three-day water safety campaign tomorrow, when, in classes, by demonstrations, and individual instruction, every swimmer enrolling for the course will be given an opportunity to become a life saver—qualified to care for himself and to protect others in the water.

A Red Cross life saving expert will instruct classes at the Y. M. C. A. and Rock Springs park pools, Boy Scout camp at Engleton's Glen and Y. M. C. A. camp in Madison township, as well as visit power and telephone plants and offer suggestions to firemen who are called upon to do rescue work.

A large number of swimmers should enroll, for the prone pressure method of artificial resuscitation will be part of the course. This is of special benefit to members of police and fire departments, because it is not only successful in restoring to life a person overcome by water, but also persons suffocated by gas or smoke.

Statistics indicate that 20 persons drown each day at America's beaches, lakes, rivers and ponds. July alone will claim more than 600 lives. More than 7,000 deaths by drowning will occur this year.

This appalling toll should prompt a large enrollment in the life saving classes. It will pay swimmers as well as non-swimmers to enroll, for a life saver knows how to avoid the death grips of the drowning. Or, if by accident he is caught in one, he knows how to break any grip in which a drowning man can grasp his rescuer. He can hold him with one arm under control while swimming to shore with the other.

As the Red Cross points out, the best method for decreasing the drowning toll is the dissemination of life saving instruction which impresses upon swimmers that the water can be their best or worst enemy.

Enroll in the Red Cross classes.

Russo-Chinese Situation

Any attempt at this distance to clarify the Russo-Chinese situation so that readers may understand what is going on over there, must of necessity be based upon rumor rather than fact. While there has been no attempt, so far as can be ascertained, to muzzle the press along the Manchurian border, or elsewhere in Russia or China, the facts which are coming through are few and far between, and somewhat obscured behind propaganda emanating from both the Russian and the Chinese headquarters.

The dispute is over the Chinese Eastern railway. This is one of the most vital connecting links between eastern Russia and eastern China. It is the outlet to the sea from Russia, and it is a line of communication that Russia must have—or over which Russia must be permitted to move its commodities—if Russia is to maintain communications with the outer world to the east.

There is no question of the gravity of the Manchurian situation. And from this distance, and in view of what Russia has been doing in the quite recent past—and in the absence of anything to the contrary—it appears that Russia is the aggressor in the dispute with China, and for the very simple reason that China does not want its Manchurian holdings snatched away to increase the border safety of the Soviet republic.

World powers, however, have interested themselves in the situation, and with Secretary Stimson calling upon both China and Russia, as signatories to the Kellogg anti-war pact, to submit their differences to arbitration, it is quite likely the war, so-called, will prove a dud and the differences of opinion will be ironed out around a conference table.

This is the first time that the Washington government has asked belligerent nations which have signed the Kellogg pact to settle their disputes by arbitration rather than force of arms. It is the first time the occasion has arisen for so doing.

The Kellogg pact does not provide the machinery for arbitration, but inasmuch as the Washington government initiated the pact, it was held by Secretary Stimson to be this government's first move in attempting conciliatory measures between Russia and China, inasmuch as they were among the first of the greater powers of the Far East to recognize the necessity of such a treaty.

If the Kellogg anti-war pact brings about a conference which ends the Russo-Chinese dispute without more bloodshed, then there is every reason to believe that Secretary Kellogg was on the right track when he brought out the agreement which was to arbitrate disputes rather than settling them with guns and swords.

Contempt Of Court

For a common pleas judge to sit in a contempt case wherein he believes he has been the victim, and then pass sentence convicting those he hates before the bar, is incongruous, to say the least, notwithstanding the legality of such procedure.

Frederick P. Walther, of the Cuyahoga county common pleas court, issued an injunction in the Thistle Down race track case some time ago. A Cleveland newspaper spiritedly pointed out that the injunction served only the purpose of restraining the sheriff from doing his duty. Judge Walther elted the editors for contempt of court—and then sat in judgment in the case.

There is no question of his legal right to do so. It would have been the graceful thing to turn the case over to a judge who had in no way been involved. No matter how fairly he may have conducted a hearing the degree of fairness would have been accentuated if another judge had been permitted to take the case over.

HASKIN DAILY LETTER

By Frederick J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 24.—The plans for extension of laws to control private banks, made as the result of the recent collapse of Clarke Brothers and the City Trust Company in New York City, are comprehensive. Their enactment by New York state is being firmly pressed and recommendations also have been made for the passage of federal laws of a similar nature.

Where these laws would possibly have far-reaching effects on big Wall Street banks and thereby upon the whole country's financial structure is in connection with the handling of speculative stocks and bonds. Although the private banks, now subject to neither state nor national supervision, examination, or regulation, which recently failed were not great houses, some of the largest of the Wall Street plants, such as J. P. Morgan and Company, also are private banks and in the same general classification. Therefore, extension of the laws to cover private banks would inevitably affect those great institutions.

One of the prime recommendations would make brokerage houses manipulating stocks on the exchange for a private bank subject to civil liabilities, thus protecting the depositors of the private banks against losses which might arise from use of deposits by a private banker. As matters now stand, a single individual who may be the largest or in some cases the sole owner of a private bank can handle depositors' money just about as he pleases. In the investigation of the affairs of Francesco M. Ferrar, Italian promoter of the City Trust Company and allied interests, he was shown to be the sole voting trustee of the Prudential bank. That arrangement is typical. And this in spite of the fact that his name did not even appear as a trustee of the Prudential. In other words, no depositor knew, unless by chance, who was the voting trustee who could decide on the use to which deposits would be put.

The borrowing of money from other banks by a private bank would be closely supervised under the proposed law revision. Now, a private banker may hypothecate the assets of his bank in making loans from other banks. General laws forbid banks from dealing in their own stock. All private banks are not corporations but some are, with stockholders. Recent investigations have shown that side-corporations, actually controlled by the same persons those operating a private bank, have been organized to deal in the bank's stock, the law's purpose thus being defeated. This would be brought under regulation.

One of the most drastic revisions proposed relates to the responsibilities of directors of private banks. In many cases men permit their names to be used as directors to please some friend or business associate operating a private bank. Actually, the men never go near the bank, never have anything to do with the business. Use of names in this manner is termed "window dressing." The public, seeing the names of important and responsible or at least rich persons listed as directors of a private bank will be inspired with confidence—a confidence too often misplaced.

It is proposed to enact laws imposing statutory duties on all directors, making them civilly and criminally liable for proper conduct of the banks' affairs. In a report on the City Trust Company case, New York laws were declared that the provisions of the state laws regulating state-chartered banks were violated "every day" by that private bank. Many of these private banks are operated by foreign-born persons and their records kept in the native language of the operators. It would be provided that accounts and records be kept in English.

The proposed reform would require that specified accounting systems be followed. A typical example of what happens in the "home-made" manner of operating private banks was revealed in the investigation into the Clarke Brothers bank collapse. There was an entry which showed that some thousands of dollars had been lent on the security of a diamond-set platinum bracelet—but the security, the bracelet, was nowhere to be found. It may have been abstracted by an officer or employee of the bank or may never have been actually put up as security.

In reporting on the recent investigations, the authorities have said that there is no reason at all why such a thing as a private bank should exist. It is proposed to give such private banks as now are operating two years in which to convert into state-chartered or national banks or go out of business. After that date, two years in the future, no one would be permitted to conduct a private bank. It is pointed out in the official reports that there is no type of banking required by the public which a national bank, state bank, or trust company can not legally perform through some one of its departments.

Strengthening of the state banking departments also is being urged. It is recognized that examiners are paid too low salaries and that there are not enough of them. Examiners should require that private banks obtain credit statements from borrowers and make no loans without the approval of responsible officers assured that security for the money lent is in existence.

Address the East Liverpool Review Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C.

Q. What nationality is Victor Varconi? J. F. A. He is a Hungarian. He was born in Kisvarda, Hungary, March 31, 1896.

Q. When was the privilege of the floor of the senate granted to reporters and when was it revoked? R. G. E. A. There was never any specific authority for admitting press representatives to the floor of the senate. Under rule 33 of the senate rules which lists those entitled to the privilege of the floor, representatives of the press are not mentioned. It has been the custom for many years for the chairman of the rules committee to extend this privilege to one representative of each of the principal press associations and up until May 22, 1929, this authority had never been questioned. Since that date reporters have been excluded.

Q. Can a couple, both of age but non-residents of the District of Columbia, secure a marriage license in Washington and be married the day it is issued? M. G. A. This is permitted.

Ritzy Rosalie

Jingles had a perfectly good fly under surveillance when along came Rosalie with much rustle and bustle and made Jingles' long wait all for naught. As she passes we may see a new wrinkle in the sheet of fashions—the handkerchief shoe. The idea is to have your shoes made of handkerchief linen which sometimes matches or complements the costume, but more frequently is supported by a real handkerchief in the same design. The shoes are made of gayly-colored linen handkerchiefs, with leather trimmings and heels, and the current colors of the season are used.

NEW YORK Day By Day

By O. O. McIntyre.

LOS ANGELES, July 24.—Those of us whose squirrel-in-the-cage existence is east in Manhattan's made cliffs, rushing up and down in elevators, fighting our way across streets and burrowing through subway caverns, are always impressed with the roominess in a city such as this.

There is a freedom we never realize on our tight little island, Los Angeles, nearing its second million, will not have the cramping compactness of the metropolis if it should become twice its size. It rambles crazily all over its million acres.

In the most congested districts one comes suddenly upon desolate sections but drive on and it picks up and flowers again into bustling activity. For this reason there seems always to be room in the most crowded area for a patch of grass, a row of trees or spray of flowers.

Every home, no matter how humble, has front and back yard and a porch. Even the apartment houses and many large hotels have wide sweeps of greensward blooming with a copious variety of flowers. The air is clean and tangy and there is a delightful leisure to the living tempo.

It is from 5 to 8 in the evening Los Angeles expresses its singularity wholesome domesticity. Husbands in shirt sleeves are out sprinkling the grass, wives are in the veranda swings reading evening papers and children in fresh linens are playing "dress-up" games on the lawn.

Los Angeles, after dark, does not rush off to the play, the cafe or the movies. The night is always beautiful with a moon riding high. Through the lamp lit windows in residential sections are glimpses of a peace and content you rarely see from Gotham's pavements.

It is doubtful if any other city its size retires so early. Down town streets begin to clear by nine o'clock. By 10 they are almost deserted. And the city seems in sound sleep by 11 o'clock. That is true of Hollywood, too, where almost everybody must be up at sunrise and off to the studios.

A Ghetto seems a little incongruous in the far west. Los Angeles has one as distinct, crowded and smelly as Rivington street in New York. It sprawls along Temple street in the middle section of the city. Here one may see bearded patriarchs and the wigged mammas sitting in doorways just as they do back East. While shops have a newer look, they have the same manner. And all day long bargain hunters sweep back and forth haggling and haggling. The section features a Chinese-Kosher cafe, by the way.

There is a subway, too, even if a miniature. It is a short span branching out from a midtown subway terminal for a few blocks underground and thus relieves the rush congestion.

The taxicab, save at railroad stations and the larger hotels, is rarely seen. Los Angelenos own their own cars. So the taxi industry does not flourish. And a New Yorker gets a sharp impression of the improved appearance of thoroughfares not cluttered up with the gaudily painted and ramshackle contraptions cruising its curbs. What few taxicabs are here are bright and clean. Drivers are in smart uniforms and they open doors, have the proper change and are otherwise polite. Most of them are American boys from the nearby farms or small towns and do not talk out of their mouth sideways. Neither do their hair and eyebrows meet.

For a short haul in New York the average taxi tip is 15 cents. Out here it is a quarter and often 35 cents, which goes to show people are willing to pay for courtesy and comfort.

L. A. hooch seems to have authority. A gentleman tells in the morning papers of priming himself with three fair sized shots to call on a certain lady and tell her their romance was over. Instead, he asked her to elope to San Diego and she did. In an aeroplane!

Los Angeles seems to attract the type of show-offs who used to think they were splitting New York wide open when they bought a bottle of wine at Hector's and hired a hack by the day. Out here they drive about hatless in roadsters and smirk at the ladies.

YOUR HEALTH

An Ounce of Prevention Is Worth A Pound of Cure.

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland.

Not long ago I had lunch with Senator Swanson, of Virginia. The senator is very much of a philosopher. His active mind runs the whole gamut of life. It is surprising how many things he has given serious thought.

A good many times the senator has mentioned these articles. The other day he asked if I would like a few subjects for discussion.

I laughingly said I would be glad to have them, saying: "I can write on any subject if I have the subject."

That was said in jest, of course, but for one who writes an article every day, day after day and year after year, it does help a lot to have somebody suggest a subject he would like to have discussed. That is one reason I prize the thousands of letters written me by the readers of this column. I get first-hand information of their desires and needs.

Anyhow, Senator Swanson said: "Let us have a series of articles relating to the summer season—summer fruits, foods and drinks, how to avoid summer diarrhoea, typhoid and malaria and the importance of calmness of mind."

Then the senator suggested that many a man is upset, thrown off his digestion and made half sick, because of a nagging wife. "But," I broke in, "what about the wife who is pestered and lectured and beset by a disagreeable husband?"

We agreed that both sexes have equal occasion to practice forbearance and kindness of conduct. There can be no doubt, I am sure, that many marital relations have much to do with good temper, good digestion and good health.

Hot weather is, indeed, trying to soul and body. Tired, sweaty, suffering bodies set the nerves on edge. It is easy to have a mental explosion, a regular "brain storm," under the physical stress of stifling heat.

The most difficult time in a man's life is from 4 to 7 o'clock in the afternoon. That period is equally trying for the housewife who is preparing dinner in a hot kitchen.

There must be a bridle on the tongue and severe self-restraint during these hours or trouble will begin. A disturbance originating then may be carried on through the evening, break the sleep as it continues, and make the morning after a sort of hell on earth.

To have many such explosions will undermine the health. No one can question that continued unhappiness is fatal to vigor and good health.

Thank you, senator, for your suggestions. I shall accept all of them.

Other Editors Say

Wherein the Coast Guard Shines.

The Prince George is a steamship of Canadian registry. The Agassiz belongs to the United States coast guard patrol. A bare recital of their collision might read: "Coast guard cutter almost sinks another Canadian vessel." But, fortunately, the circumstances of this latest encounter are such as to render it a striking contrast to the incident of the Im Alone, and, indeed, something of an offset, let us hope, to the bitterness aroused by that other unfortunate affair.

There seems to be little ground for the charge that the Agassiz was speeding after run runners when she rammed the Prince George and was therefore omitting the precautions that might have prevented the accident. But her own men and the coast guard officials at Boston insist that she was engaged in a regular cruise whose duties cover a variety of more peaceful pursuits. In any case, what might have been a first-class tragedy has been turned into an occasion for thanksgiving by the skill and humanity of her crew. They have given a refreshing indication that a service in which the country once took a justifiable pride is still true to its tradition of the Good Samaritan of the sea.

To be sure, they could hardly in decency have failed to help the victims of the emergency. But they might have bungled the difficult rescue work or treated their overload of passengers with less individual attention. As it was, 267 men, women and children—mostly women and children—were handled tenderly in a black fog across a narrow, wabbling, seasawing plank from the rail of the stricken liner to the roof of the coast guard's engine-room. Not only were all the passengers transferred in safety, but so also were all the bags, suitcases and personal effects from their several staterooms—everything but their trunks. Here is an item which our customs service ashore, so prone of late to let injured passengers go to hospitals without their baggage, might ponder with advantage. And after they had been stowed away on the grunting cutter its sailors busied themselves opening cans of condensed milk for the babies and finding sandwiches for the adults. Not a touch of thoughtful kindness on their part seems to have been missing.

Perhaps it is a reflection on the coast guard service even to mention these things. There was a time when they would have been taken for granted, but no one will deny that in the light of recent events they should be emphasized with all the publicity possible.—New York Herald-Tribune.

Sympathy.

There are always winners—be some thing different! Take the bad breaks as a part of the general scheme.

You may be tempted often to tell of your hard knocks.

You feel that if people knew they might have more sympathy for you. But why should you want sympathy? You are just looking for an excuse for failure.

In case of death of dear ones there is a place sacred to sympathy if it comes from true friends or it is in itself genuine.

But in a case less than life and death your friends have a right to feel that you can pull yourself out of trouble.

At least they should think that you don't want sympathy.

Sympathy in such a case is a reflection on your ability or your stick-to-itiveness in your running of your own business.

Keep your troubles to yourself—even the best of friends get weary of hearing about them.

Incidentally it is easier to help a brave and courageous man than a whiner.

THRILL, APPEAL IN 'HIGH VOLTAGE'

Pictured against the vast, snow-clad hills of the Sierras, in California, "High Voltage," a dramatic talking picture of man's fight against the elements, starring William Boyd, will be seen at the State theater tomorrow. This is Boyd's first 100 per cent dialogue production and it is said to be as novel as it is thrilling and dramatic. Boyd's engaging personality is multiplied ten fold by his rich resonant voice and by the dramatic moments of "High Voltage" take on added power because of it. The story is one of human beings with their backs to the wall, fighting for their lives and yet finding emancipation from their world bred inhibitions in the midst of the battle.

A motor bus party of five persons lose the trail in a heavy snow and the bus is wrecked. In the party are a banker, a girl crook, a deputy sheriff, a bride-to-be and a driver. Their situation is hopeless. The banker is irritable and wants to "know the meaning of all this." The girl crook is cynical and resigned. She is being taken back to Auburn prison to serve her time and she doesn't care. The deputy sheriff is practical, but he intends to bring the girl back at any cost. The bride-to-be is hopeful and unafraid. The driver, a male polyanthus, is sure everything is going to be all right.

Far in the distance they see a thin trail of smoke rising into the skies. They head for it through the heavy snow and find it to be an abandoned meeting house. Here they encounter Bill Dougherty, played by Boyd, who is using the place as a hideaway from the law. The storm becomes worse. They are marooned with Dougherty's scant provisions as the only food to sustain six human beings. With this situation there begins one of the most dramatic stories that has reached the vocal screen. Drama looms at every moment and grim romance winds its way through a thoroughly compelling story.

BACLANOVA STARS AT AMERICAN

"A Dangerous Woman" is coming to the American theater for three days beginning tomorrow. This is the first African all-talking film with all-talking experience and stage-experienced actors to appear on any local screen. It is everything—authentic African atmosphere, dramatic plot, romance, comedy and unparalleled acting.

The story of "A Dangerous Woman" is based upon a tense, absorbing tale of the jungle country by Margery H. Lawrence which appeared in Cosmopolitan Magazine. It deals with a modern Russian woman who falls under the dreamy, romantic spell of primitive Africa and turns her love-energy to a veritable stalking of all the white men who come within her ken in the out-post village in which she lives. She captures the hearts of each in turn, relinquishing each former victim for the thrill of ensnaring a new one.

Baclanova, Russian dramatic artist, formerly with the Moscow Art theater, and lately a tremendous success in "The Wolf of Wall Street," plays the title role in her own inimitable, exotic manner. Clive Brook, Neil Hamilton and Leslie Fenton are the handsome colonial residents who fall captive before the romantic onslaughts of the siren.

Snitz Edwards and Clyde Cook give lavishly of their talents in producing the comedy-relief.

The set for "A Dangerous Woman" was constructed by a studio architect, Hans Dreier, who lived for three years in the jungle and veldt of Africa.

MARY DUGAN TRIAL ON CERAMIC BILL

The first presentation in East Liverpool of "The Trial of Mary Dugan," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer all-talking screen version of Bayard Veiller's melodramatic stage hit, has been set for tomorrow at the Ceramic theater.

"Mary Dugan" ran for more than a full season at the National theater in New York City, concluding its engagement on Broadway last summer. Before the end of its run, however, four domestic road companies had been organized and the success of the play outside of New York was fully as striking as its Broadway popularity. At the present time there are four road companies still touring the United States, with two in England, four in Germany, four in Holland, two in Norway and Sweden and one in France.

Veiller, whose earlier dramatic successes include "Within the Law" and "The Thirteenth Chair," signed a contract with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer to direct personally the all-dialogue film version of his play.

OHIOAN FINDS BROTHER'S BODY

NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., July 23.—(INS)—Melvin Brick, Mineral City, while enroute to work found the body of his brother, Albert L. Brick, 48, who had evidently been killed by a train.

Brick's body was found about a half mile from the home of his brother, lying on the Cleveland and Pittsburgh railroad tracks.

title role, was selected by Veiller, in conference with M-G-M, for the picture of the play. Miss Shearer had never appeared before a microphone or had any talking film experience, yet her voice was said to be one of the best so far discovered among Hollywood's erstwhile silent players.

Raymond Hackett, who succeeded the late Rex Cherryman in the role of Mary's brother on the stage, has the same part in the picture, while other important roles are played by H. B. Warner, Lewis Stone, Olive Tell, Lilyan Tashman, DeWitt Jennings, Mary Doran, Adrienne D'Ambricourt, Wilfrid North, Landers Stevens, Mary Dorne, Myra Hampton, Westcott Clarke, Charles Moore and Claud Allister.

In transcribing his murder mystery to the screen Veiller followed the form and dramatic treatment laid down in the original play. Enough dialogue was eliminated to bring the new product within an hour and three-quarters' approach and in content with the play. The courtroom setting is retained throughout the telling of the story.

When the film had its premiere at the Embassy theater in New York City, unanimity of opinion prevailed among the critics that it was the outstanding all-talking film of its kind.

Owa-Ton-Na Benefitted Me More Than Words Can Tell

Mrs. Judy Advises Women Suffering From Nerves, Headaches, Backaches, Dizziness and a General Run Down Condition of Health, to Try This Fine Old Indian Remedy.

MRS. MAGGIE JUDY

Thousands of women find Owa-Ton-Na a particularly beneficial aid in the elimination of harmful toxic poisons which bring about characteristic ailments peculiarly their own. These poisons if allowed to accumulate bring about serious disorders and in the critical age of middle life when the system is unusually taxed, often times a complete breakdown is the result. Owa-Ton-Na's aid in eliminating these poisons is a harmless method of aiding nature and keeping the system up to par.

Owa-Ton-Na cleansing effect on the liver and kidneys aid these very important organs in performing their work which results in a better condition of the blood, in order that it may absorb poisons from delicate nerves and send to them good rich, strengthening, nourishment. Its cleansing and tonic effect on the stomach, results in better assimilation of properly digested food which in itself proves a remarkable aid in the restoration of strength and vitality, resulting in renewed energy.

One of the remarkable cases where Owa-Ton-Na has proved itself well adapted to aid women is the case of Mrs. Maggie Judy, Ninth street, Chester, W. Va. She says: "For the past ten years my nerves have been constantly on edge. Headaches, dizzy spells and a weakened run down condition seemed to be always present. I was almost at the point of distraction. So tired, I could hardly get around to do my housework. I didn't care whether I saw anyone or not.

"I was terribly constipated yet laxatives gave me no relief. Food I didn't care for. When I ate, I would have terrible attacks of indigestion. Sourness and gas made me short of breath and weak. My kidneys, too, were in terrible condition. Backaches were so bad that at times I could hardly bear them. It just seemed that my whole body ached. Time after time, I have tried new treatments, almost anything that was recommended to me but without results. I had heard so much of Owa-Ton-Na, how it had helped women in a similar condition that I finally was induced to try it.

"Had I done so long before I could have saved myself a lot of misery. So eagerly did I take Owa-Ton-Na, that I didn't miss a dose and in a very short time, this fine old Indian Remedy started to give me results. It was just like lifting a big load from my shoulders, so great was the relief. My nerves quieted down, elimination began to be normal, my appetite improved until I could hardly get enough to eat, yet food digested properly and caused me no trouble.

"Thank goodness, these terrible backaches and headaches are gone again and I can go to sleep and get a good night's sleep. I get up in the morning refreshed and feel like doing my work. I want to say that Owa-Ton-Na is especially good for a change of life and I feel there is nothing to equal to it; and can safely recommend it to anyone.

Sufferers should not hesitate in giving this remedy a trial. The Owa-Ton-Na that Mrs. Judy recommends so highly is daily being explained to eager health seekers at Carnahan's Drug Store, 114 East Sixth street, East Liverpool, O., by a special laboratory representative who will be glad to tell you about its merits. Why not call today and have a talk with her about your own case? Owa-Ton-Na is also sold at Carnahan's East End store and Newell, W. Va. Store.

WHAT WOULD YOU DO? Answer This Question—See For Yourself

HE was a gentleman, the soul of honor. She was exotic, ravishingly beautiful. He married her and took her to a lonely outpost in Africa, where his life work lay. There the savage heat, the jungle sights and sounds and smells, seemed to bring all that was evil in her to the surface. The husband, to his horror, felt his ideals and standards sinking, sinking. She ruined his best pal. Other men fell victims to her spell. The husband was aghast, bewildered. His fine young brother came out to join him. And that infamous woman started to wind her insidiously illuring coils around the brother. It was terrible to watch—terrible but fascinating. Then the husband seized hold of himself at last. Coldly, logically he reasoned it out. She was no longer his wife. She was no longer entitled to honor, protection. She had become a dark menace, like a dangerous but fascinating snake—something that must be destroyed for the good of mankind. She was—

305 Famous Beauty Shops find:

"... With all our experience, we actually cannot distinguish between the hands of a woman of wealth and leisure and the hands of a woman who uses Lux in the dishpan..."

HAVE you envied the smooth, white hands of the woman with servants to do all her work? Now millions of women who wash dishes every day of their lives have hands just as truly lovely—because they use Lux in the dishpan!

Beauty experts know the reason... know that many soaps dry up the precious beauty oils of the skin, giving the hands a horridly red, drawn, "work-worn" look... while gentle, bland Lux soothes and protects the beauty oils—keeps hands smooth and white! That is why 305 famous Beauty Shops call Lux "beauty care right in the dishpan."

Give your hands this wonderful beauty care—the wisest, most inexpensive known! Lux for all your dishes costs less than 1¢ a day!

(Left) Scene in New York beauty salon... Experts in such famous shops agree that the woman who uses Lux in her dishpan gives her hands real "beauty care."

CHINA, RUSSIA MARK TIME IN FAR EAST TILT

International Diplomats Continue Labors for Arbitration.

CLASH DELAYED

Mukden Blames Soviets
For Imbroglio in Manchuria.

By International News Service.
The Far East crisis, directly involving China and the Union of Soviet Republics (Russia), marked time today while the international diplomats continued their labors for an arbitration conference to compose the conflict peacefully.

Both China and Soviet Russia have conditionally promised to accept arbitration of the Chinese Eastern railway dispute and other pending problems.

The Soviet ambassador to France conferred with French Foreign Minister Briand, after which he informed International News Service: "The Soviets are peaceful; only refusal by China to accept pacific measures will be responsible for further action."

Hint China Acted too Hastily.
Mukden, Manchuria, advised to London said that the council of the northeastern provincial Chinese government placed the blame for the Manchurian imbroglio directly upon the Soviets.

On the other hand there is a disposition in official circles in London, based upon reports from Peking, to believe that the Chinese acted too hastily in seizing the Chinese Eastern railway.

It is believed in London that there will be no fighting with the possible exception of frontier clashes between isolated units.

In retaliation for the arrest of 1,000 Chinese Eastern railway on the dardmes in Manchuria have seized 300 additional Russian employees of the Chinese Eastern railway on the charge of fomenting revolutionary communism.

Japan Permits Troop Movements.
TOKIO, July 24.—(INS).—The Japanese military council today decided to allow the transportation of Chinese troops and ammunition over the Southern Manchurian railway, unless a condition of emergency arises making this inadvisable.

Soviet Encamp Near Manchuli.
HARBIN, Manchuria, July 24.—(INS).—Soviet troops are now encamped within sight of Manchuli. It was stated here today by a Russian refugee, who with hundreds of Chinese arrived here in an overcrowded train, fleeing from the advance of the red troops.

The troops, the refugee stated, are now encamped within sight of Manchuli and the Chinese garrison is vastly impressed with the martial display on the outskirts of the city.

Civilians, it was reported, have dug first-line trenches a half-mile from the city, a second 400 yards away and a third line on the border of the city.

LONDON, July 24.—While the powers of the world continued their diplomatic efforts to bring about a peaceful solution of the crisis between Soviet Russia and China, ominous messages reaching here from the Far East today indicated that danger of actual hostilities is far from past.

Dispatches from Harbin, principal city of Manchuria, the theater of the Sino-Russian dispute, stated that Chi-

SUMMER LET-UP IN IRON, STEEL

Recession, However, Not Beyond Customary Proportions.

PITTSBURGH, July 24.—(INS).—"Signs of a letup in activity of the iron and steel industry are not lacking but there is no indication of a recession of customary summer proportions," the Iron Age magazine will say in its weekly summary tomorrow.

"A further decline has occurred in automobile steel which is now 25 to 35 per cent below the peak of May, and the aggressive selling of Alabama pig iron is being felt in wider areas."

Steel input output as a whole shows little change and foundry melt in the north and east is well maintained, Iron Age will say. The Pittsburgh district is the only one to show slackening and the Steel corporation plants still are maintaining capacity, the magazine will say. The scrap market buoyancy indicates sustained steel output.

quest should be referred to the police chief.

It was pointed out also that signs indicating the way to Midland, Rochester and Pittsburgh, Pa., had been torn down at crossings from St. George street which caused a great deal of annoyance to travelers. It was agreed that the Columbiana County Motor club should be acquainted with the situation. It will be brought to the club's attention by William Robinson.

It was voted to ask council to enforce ordinances which prohibit the stopping above certain periods of long freight trains at East End crossings and also legislation for the abatement of smoke and the unnecessary long whistling of locomotives while passing through. Some seventy or more trains pass through the suburb during a 24-hour period.

Object to Dump.
Members, both men and women, were a unit in expressing objection to the dumping of debris at the western end of St. George street and Ohio avenue.

"The smudge and smoke and particularly the stench arising from its partial burning Monday night made it impossible for residents to sleep with windows open," declared Mrs. Laura M. Moore and Mrs. John Putnam.

"Such a condition, and particularly the unwholesome approach such a situation presents to visitors who are entering a section of the city comprising some 5,000 or 6,000 inhabitants, is most undesirable and a bad advertisement for the city," said Ernest Simpson. "Cities everywhere essay the best possible appearances for strangers entering their gates," added Norman McHenry.

Garbage and refuse, it was declared, was being dumped on the spot despite the fact that city officials had ordered the practice discontinued.

It was also agreed to ask council to make of that part of it belonging to the city a park by the addition of dirt over it and the planting thereon of grass. Mrs. Moore suggested that in the same request the council be asked to do likewise with a 60-foot tract at the western extremity of St. George street, just off Railroad street.

Need For Beautification Stressed.
Frank Cunningham stressed the need for beautification to begin in the homes. He pointed out what had already been done in certain sections of the suburb in this regard. "Such improvement is contagious," he said. "Let all of us begin as a committee of one and we will soon see a different East End."

Allen Burrows, a downtown plumber, a visitor at the meeting, made pertinent suggestions as to improvements that may be made to existing sewer conditions along the river in the East End.

N. P. Kerr told how council when he was a member of it some years ago had brought about the muzzling of the noisy exhausts of the Sewer Pipe company in Boyce street, when complaints were registered in behalf of nearby residents.

"There are no decent railway crossings anywhere in the city," observed Norman McHenry in a discussion. It was pointed out, however, that this shortcoming probably would be overcome by the laying of the third track through the city.

Before adjournment to August 6 it was agreed that the executive committee should report the procuring of another place of meeting so that the fire department would not in any way be handicapped by the presence of a crowd.

AUTO ACCIDENT

Youth Faces Charge of Manslaughter in London Court.

By CHARLES A. SMITH
International News Service Staff
Correspondent.

LONDON, July 24.—Attorney Norman Birkett, outlining the case for the defense today in the manslaughter trial of Richard J. Reynolds, rich young American, said he would prove that Reynolds was not drunk, as alleged by the prosecution, when his automobile ran down and fatally injured Arthur Graham on May 14.

Reynolds did not know his rented automobile had struck Graham, the lawyer said. Reynolds felt a shock at the time, but thought it was due to the motor car mounting the curb to avoid an approaching car whose dazzling headlights had blinded him.

Ohio Woman Dies from Injuries.

CINCINNATI, O., July 24.—(INS).—Mrs. Clara Taylor is dead today from injuries which she received in a fall down a flight of stairs at the Eastern Star home.

Mrs. Taylor's accident occurred five days ago.

VAN SWERINGENS SCORE VICTORY

(CLEVELAND, July 24.—(INS).—With the authorization of the inter-state commerce commission to abandon its Ontario street station and to use the new terminal, the Wheeling and Lake Erie railroad, a Van Sweringens interest, today held one of the most important permits ever awarded affecting the city of Cleveland.

The commission dismissed the complaint of the Taplins, rivals of the Van Sweringens, who contended that the consideration of $1,600,000 which the Wheeling and Lake Erie road is to receive for its present station property, was inadequate.

ANTI-WAR PACT IS PROCLAIMED

Simple Ceremony Marks
Peace Move at White House.

WASHINGTON, July 24.—In a simple ceremony that contrasted strangely with the significance and solemnity of the undertaking, President Hoover today proclaimed the effectiveness of the world peace pact, under which 46 of the most powerful nations of the earth have bound themselves to renounce war, and never to seek settlement of their disputes by other than peaceful means.

Withal the simplicity of the ceremony, it was a glittering assemblage that took part in the momentous drama of "outlawing war."

Around a great horseshoe table set up in the historic east room of the White House sat the representatives of 40 of the powers, duly solemn and impressive. They may have their doubts as to the ultimate value of the treaty in preventing war, but if so it was not apparent in their grave main today as they sat and heard Mr. Hoover repeat the simple 78 words that, if lived up to, will relegate war to the limbo of impossible things.

Coolidge in Capital

party passed unobserved down the train shed and out through the presidential entrance. Here, for the first time, became manifest the fact that a personage of note had arrived. The photographers hadn't forgotten Mr. Coolidge, for a battery of them completely blocked the entrance.

Grimacing, the former executive took charge of the picture-taking just as he used to do. He told his reception committee where to stand, and he told the photographers when they had gotten enough and to "stop shooting."

Secretary Akerson and Col. Hodges made their adieus at the curb, and Mr. Coolidge stepped into the White House limousine accompanied only by Sanders and Starling. They swept down the avenue without creating a ripple of excitement, reaching the Willard hotel within ten minutes of arrival. At the hotel, Mr. Coolidge stopped to shake hands with Francis Robinson, chauffeur—extraordinary who has driven every president who owned an automobile.

Pick Three Jurors

unless you can lay aside any pre-conceived impressions of this case. Element of Pathos.

Dr. Snook is ready for the ordeal of trial by jury. Six weeks in a drab prison cell has failed to break the self complacency of this tall, scholarly looking man of "the dangerous age" who swept aside home ties in the pursuit of a mad infatuation for a girl half his years. He is determined to stage a hard battle to escape the electric chair on the plea of "emotional insanity."

An element of pathos is injected into the case by the presence of the slain girl's heart-broken parents.

"I am here to do anything I can to see that justice is meted out in the case of this man Snook," said the gray-haired father of the slain girl, a ring of vehemence in his voice.

Mrs. Hix, a quiet, motherly looking woman, remonstrated with her husband when he became denunciatory toward the man who brought tragedy into their lives in their declining years. She has little to say, but the sad, far away expression in her eyes tells its own story.

Mrs. Snook Incommunicado.

The wife of the defendant, Mrs. James H. Snook, is incommunicado. She has been in seclusion in her home and has given out no interviews since the murder. She has steadfastly refused to see newspaper men. She has, however, paid a visit or two to the jail where she has talked low and confidentially to her husband. Snook, interviewed in his cell by the International News Service, said she was "standing by him loyally."

Prosecuting Attorney John J. Chester, Jr., has issued subpoenas for 35 witnesses ordering them to appear in court Friday morning. This indicates he believes it will require two days to select the jury. Among those summoned as witnesses are a number of persons well known in university circles.

The defense attorneys, of whom there are three, declined to reveal how many witnesses they will call. E. O. Ricketts, one of Dr. Snook's lawyers, had no statement to make beyond saying that "whatever defense will be put up will be revealed at the trial and not until then." From a reliable source it was learned, however, that the defense will endeavor to persuade the jury that the crime was committed while Snook was "emotionally insane."

Prosecutor Chester, in his effort to prove that the crime was premeditated, will seek to introduce in evidence a signed confession made by Snook after 22 hours of grilling. It is the prosecutor's opinion that Snook has not told "all of the story."

LINDY AND BRIDE ARE 'CAMPING OUT'

CLOVIS, N. M., July 24.—(INS).—Colonel Charles A. The famous couple hopped off from Winslow shortly before noon yesterday, apparently bound for the east.

James A. Wigmore Tak-

Cleveland.

NORWOOD, Mass., July 24.—(INS).—James P. Mandell, prominent Harvard polo player injured in a collision during a game at Westwood on Monday, died early today in Norwood hospital. Mandell and George Oliver Clark, 2nd, who also was hurt, suffered head injuries. Clark was still unconscious early today.

CLEVELAND, July 24.—(INS).—The condition of James A. Wigmore, noted polo player and member of the famous Chagrin Valley Hunt team that won the national inter-circuit championship in 1927, who was seriously injured in a practice game at the Chagrin Valley field yesterday, was reported as "fair" by hospital attaches today.

Suffering from concussion of the brain, the polo player had regained semi-consciousness early today after being unconscious for hours. Physicians said they did not regard Wigmore's condition as serious unless unforeseen complications set in.

Wigmore was injured in a fall from his horse when his mount crashed against another horse during scrimmage. The polo player landed on his head and shoulders.

After the application of first aid remedies at the scene of the accident failed to revive the polo player, he was rushed 11 miles from the polo field to the hospital in 12 minutes.

Wigmore has been prominent in polo circles for the last 11 years. He maintains a 300,000-acre estate in New Mexico, the "Ladder Ranch," where he breeds polo ponies. At one time he was chairman of the Midwick Country club in California.

Boda, Jr.

BEAVER, Pa., July 24.—Stephen Mikush, Ambridge, and his father, Andrew Mikush, have filed suit in court here against Joseph Boda, Jr., also of Ambridge, asking $25,000 damages for injuries alleged to have been sustained when struck by an automobile. The accident occurred October 2, 1927, in Merchant street, Ambridge. A similar suit was filed last winter against Joseph Boda, sr. The jury awarded a verdict, but later the court ruled that the father could not be held responsible for the son's negligence in driving a car when the father did not know the son had the automobile.

A record number of exhibits are expected at the annual fair at Marselles, France, this year.

NEWELL BEATS WELLSVILLE TO HANG UP SECOND WIN

Potters Capture 4-2 Game

Schneidmiller, Baker, Turn in Fine Slab Work.

Joe Dickey's Homer Laughlins got away with their second straight victory of the second half last night when the West Virginians triumphed over the Wellsville nine, 4 to 2, at Newell.

And it was an exceptionally good ball club that Nicholson sent in against the Potters, too, a ball club that should win a lot of games the final half.

But George Schneidmiller, who gave another of his great slab performances last night, only to lose, probably wonders if there are any breaks coming his way.

Schneidmiller permitted but four hits in five innings while Bud Sainor, who made his league debut last night, held the opposition hitless in the remaining frame.

But, "It's not how many you hit but when and where you hit them," says Dignan, Homer Laughlin swatter, who utterly ruined Manager Nick's afternoon.

Dignan had only one hit in three trips to the plate last night, it wasn't an extraordinary wallop at that. Just a nice little single into right.

But the fact that Dignan delivered it with three men on makes all the difference in the world. That single scored three runs and Dignan himself scored a moment later and there you have, in short, all of Laughlin's runs accounted for.

Lefty Baker did a mighty neat job of twirling for the Potters, too, and the visitors were not hitting him any too frequently. He gave out only six and kept them pretty well scattered.

Schneidmiller was in great form until the third when Laughlin bunched three of the four blows they got off him with an error, a pass and two stolen bases. Sainor was a trifle wild, walking Pollock and Morgan, but finished out the game without a hit being made off him.

Densmore, Laughlin, and Johnny Watson, Wellsville, carried off the fielding honors, Densmore accepting seven out of eight chances, making a pretty stop of Cal Wagner's fly in the fourth, while Watson took part in two double killings.

Lynch's triple in the sixth was the only extra base blow of the conflict.

As related before, Newell sewed up the game in the fourth. Baker got an infield hit. Finley was safe at first and Baker at second when Lynch momentarily juggled Watson's toss at second on Finley's grounder. Mosser walked, jamming the highway. But

$5 A Throw

Dazzy Vance, pitcher for the Brooklyn Nationals, has been troubled with sciatica and severe pains in his throwing arm ever since the spring training season. As a result he has pitched in only a dozen encounters, of which six have resulted victoriously. If Dazzy pitches as many innings as he did last year (which is not likely) he will average $5 for every ball he heaves—wild pitch, ball, strike and all. This comes about because Vance is the highest paid pitcher in organized baseball—$25,000 a year.

Dignan cleared the traffic with a single over first. Dignan swiped second and counted on Morgan's single to center.

Lynch's triple, followed by Maley's single in the sixth gave the visitors their first tally. They got their second in the seventh. Maloney singled through second, moved up a peg on George Wagner's sacrifice and finished when Canne's grounder got through Densmore.

Knockout Cavelli's Ambition

Carl Would Stop Willie Davies Thursday at Junction.

STILL smarting over what he believes an injustice when he lost a decision to Frisco Grande, Filipino, in their fight a month ago at the Junction, Carl Cavelli, Canton flyweight, is going into his 10-round main scrap with Willie Davies, Charleroi mite, tomorrow night at the New Brighton arena with the intention of knocking out the Welshman.

Grande's victory over Cavelli, as the judges happened to see it, proved very unpopular with the crowd and the Ohioan, as a result, expects to prove that he is not only Grande's master, but Davies' as well by winning from Jim Buchanan's star.

There is a feeling that is spreading fast that Willie Davies is going to run up against opposition that he did not figure upon although the Charleroi mite clearly admits that he respects Cavelli's punching powers. The sincerity of Cavelli's pre-fight statements and the anxiety that he displayed in wanting a match with the popular Davies is a proof that in the Italian's camp victory is being taken for granted.

Davies is conceded to be among the topnotchers in his class and has less an authority than Harry Keck rates him as the world's greatest, pound for pound.

Cavelli can hit hard with either hand and has already experienced the sensation of causing Davies to drop from the effects of one of his right hooks. Davies will need to be constantly on the watch as the Italian is noted as a kayo wallop.

Willie has gone up the boxing ladder in a way that has made him known from coast to coast. He is not an unbeaten fighter having been forced to witness the verdict go against him in fights with Johnny McCoy and Midget Wolgast and on one occasion with Izzy Schwartz. He has Schwartz's number now, however, having a total of not less than three official decisions over the tough Jewish boy who is regarded by the New York commission as the rightful world's champion in the flyweight class.

Willie has also scored wins over his old rival, Midget Wolgast, as well as having decisions over Marty Gold, Luis Carpentier, Frisco Grande, Black Bill, Davey Adelman, and a host of others.

Nick Polis and Lee Sala are scheduled for six rounds but inasmuch as each packs a K. O. wallop, it is entirely possible that this scrap may end at any moment.

Bud Morrison, the scrappy Canton lad, tackles Rube Sanders in the opening four-rounder, while Scotty Graham, the Donora flyweight, meets Scotty Baird, former Beaver Falls high school football star.

Large delegation of East Liverpool district fans is planning to take in the card.

SUPPLY CLUB WILL PRACTICE

All members of the Potters' Supply ball club of the Community league are asked to report Thursday night at 5:30 for practice.

The Supplies captured the first half pennant in the league, winning 12 and losing six. The second half will start next Monday.

Bill Returns

Bill McKechnie, former Pittsburgh and St. Louis pennant winner, now heading the Rochester Internationals toward the flag, yesterday was recalled to the helm of the Cards.

SOFTBALL RESULTS

The championship flag for the first half of the Recreation league race has been stowed away in the lockers of the Smith News, last year's champs, who triumphed over the Carnahan Drugs by the narrow margin of one game.

The News aggregation played consistent ball throughout the half, while the Carnahan Drugs, newcomers in the circuit, proved a distinct surprise to the rest of the loop.

Anderson Coals, also new to the league, finished fourth, right behind the Johannes Drugs.

The Anderson Coals have played 25 innings in their last two games. Night before last they dropped a 6-5 decision in 13 frames, and last night they won by the same score in 12 innings from the Carnahan Drugs.

Laneve Grocers defeated the Y. M. C. A., 4 to 3 last night in a 10-inning battle at West End. Hancock and White were battery mates for the "Y," Wurzel and Nolan for the Grocers.

The Anderson Coals today completed arrangements for a game with the office nine of the R. Thomas & Sons company tomorrow night at Lisbon.

Old Alex Returns To Form

Beats Phils as McKechnie Becomes Pilot Again.

NEW YORK, July 24.—When Bill McKechnie resumes his managerial duties in St. Louis today he will find his task of jacking up the fading champions made easier by the return to form of Grover Cleveland Alexander, his right bower in other pennant campaigns.

The grand old man of baseball showed all of his old time skill in pitching the Cardinals to an 8 to 2 win over the Phillies yesterday, and although nipped for 10 hits, he struck out seven batters and did not walk a man.

The Cubs advanced to within a single point of the Pirates by blanking the Giants, 2 to 0, while the league leaders were dropping a 10 to 7 slugfest to Brooklyn. In the seventh inning pitcher Hill of the Pirates filled the bases by intentionally walking Bissnette, a 226 hitter, to get at Billy Rhiel. The Youngstown, Ohio, recruit promptly avenged this insult by lacing the ball over the left field fence, breaking up the party.

Root and "no hit" Hubbell staged a pretty pitching duel in the New York-Chicago game, each allowing only four hits. The Cubs converted doubles by English and Grimm into runs.

Cincinnati shattered Boston's winning streak by annexing the first game of a double bill, 9 to 5, but Delaney whitewashed the Reds in the nightcap, 6 to 0.

In the American league the Yankees inaugurated their home stand with a 7 to 5 triumph over Detroit, thanks to the wildness of Earl Whitehill, who passed nine men. Pipgras pitched for New York.

The Yanks cut Philadelphia's lead to 10 games, as the Mackes were set down by Wes Ferrell of Cleveland, 9 to 3, after Rube Walberg had gained a 4 to 1 decision over Willis Hudlin in the first game.

In the nightcap the Indians knocked out Jack Quinn in the ninth in

Sets Record

The reported price of $12,500 in coin of the realm paid to the Tampa club, of the Southern league, by John McGraw, of the Giants, for the services of Wallie Brush, above, is the highest price ever paid for a player from this loop. Brush, for all his slight build, is piling up an enviable record in the minors and should be a big help to the Giants, if he lives up to advance reports, when the team comes to the home stretch.

When they piled up six runs, Jimmy Fox, Connie Mack's mighty farmer boy, duplicated his record-breaking feat of last season by driving a ball clear over the roof of the left field stands.

The fast-stepping White Sox nosed out Washington, 3 to 2, and the Browns, although outbatted by 13 hits to 12, bunched their blows to down the Red Sox by an 11 to 4 count.

Yank Net Hopes Lie With Lott

Youth Faces Big Task in Battles With French.

NEW YORK, July 24.—"Harden yore heart," the Negro caddy advised the golfer who was playing neither wisely nor too well, and, if I were the United States Lawn Tennis Association—and for all you know, I'm nothing of the kind—I would sit myself down today and cable this message verbatim to George M. Lott, Jr. This young man is only 22, not yet out of college and his international experience is at a minimum, yet, two days hence, he will be asked to go into the challenge round of the Davis cup series with France and proceed to impersonate something he never pretended to be, namely, a world's champion.

The Davis cup committee put on the chill for Lott last year when it decided the identity of those who were to go forth and lose magnificently to the French. This time, it has found a better means of expression. It has "put him on the spot," so to speak. There can be no doubt that the play America makes for the cup this year will rise or fall with the performance of George M. Lott, Jr., and only a world's champion can guarantee to beat either Cochet or Borotra in the singles.

Tilden may beat one of them, never both. The doubles team of Allison and Van Ryn looks as though it can put the bowser on the French in Saturday's match. So, if we are to take title to the cup again, Lott must deliver one match in two attempts. If LaCoste was in there, I don't think I would go so far as to buy young Mr. Lott's chances for a wall motto. But LaCoste isn't and, therefore, Mr. Lott is a young man of possibilities.

He has the tennis. All he needs beyond that is to "harden his heart." It usually takes the cold, self-will of maturity to achieve this attitude in a competitor and the spirit of youth still is uppermost in Lott. He is prone alike to spasms of error and flights of sheer genius much after the manner of Dick Williams, who never grew up. The brilliant steadiness that was Tilden, Brookes and Wilding of the old school and Cochet of the new, has been denied Lott so far. hTe iron hasn't entered his soul.

Hands Unseen

New Mystery Story of "Gray Phantom,"

Lovable Outlaw.

By Herman Landon

Copyright by Street and Smith Corporation.

In the Murder Room.

A servant had just kindled a fire when Vanardy entered the blue room, and sat down in the big armchair Bell had occupied on the night of Craig's murder.

Leaning far back in the chair, he closed his eyes and relaxed. He had spent a trying day, and he fancied that the developments that were still to come would tax all his bodily and mental strength. It was The Gray Phantom's priceless gift to be able to rest whenever he desired and to remove it with all harassing cares from his mind.

Half an hour passed. The room was still save for the ticking of the clock on the mantelpiece and the swishing beat of wind and rain against the window.

A firm knock sounded on the door, and he got up and opened it. Culligore walked in, gingerly handling his automatic.

"I don't see what your game is, Vanardy," he said curtly, "but I'm not going to let you put anything over."

Vanardy locked and bolted the door and returned to the chair. With some little difficulty, having only one arm at his disposal, he lighted a cigarette. He blew a ring of smoke toward the ceiling.

"You alarm yourself needlessly, Culligore," he said calmly. "If a one-armed man could put anything over on a sharp-eyed and able-bodied person like you—"

With a grunt Culligore sat down opposite him, with the table between them, and placed the weapon within easy reach in front of him. "I wouldn't trust you, Vanardy, even if both your arms were on the blink and you didn't have a leg to stand on."

"Thanks for the compliment. Where did you leave Stanhope and Bell?"

"In the library, ragging each other. I told them I was going to bed."

"Splendid, Culligore! Then nobody knows that you are spending the night with me."

The lieutenant gave him a glance of mingled suspicion and bewilderment.

"I hope you didn't telephone Bowman?" said Vanardy after a moment's pause.

"No, I decided it could wait till morning."

"Admirable discretion, Culligore. I'm sure we are going to have a very interesting night. I have a feeling that some one intends to murder me before morning."

"Eh?" The lieutenant sat up a little straighter in his chair.

"I mean just that, Culligore." His lips twisted in a faint, inscrutable smile. "A certain person thinks he will be safer with me dead. You and I may see a bit of excitement tonight. The reason I welcome your society, however, is not with the idea that you are to act as my bodyguard. I want you here merely as a witness. I can take care of myself, even if my left arm is incapacitated."

Culligore compressed his lips in a grim line and looked significantly at the pistol lying before him. "Maybe so. You know what I think, Vanardy. I think you killed Craig and William. I don't know what kind of tricks you are up to, but I'm watching you with both eyes. For a long, long time my fingers have been itching to get hold of the Gray Phantom."

"I know. And the strangest part of it all is that, way down in your heart, you have a sneaking liking for me. You have shown it on several occasions, Culligore. I don't believe you will feel an unmixed triumph if your chance ever comes to put the steel bracelets on me. You will feel just the least bit regretful. Isn't it so?"

"You're talking foolishness," grumbled the lieutenant, looking decidedly uncomfortable. "Anyhow, even if I felt that way about you, I wouldn't let my feelings interfere with my duty."

"Of course not. That's one of the things I like about you. It isn't every man who carries his devotion to duty along with him when he takes a vacation. Such devotion deserves to be rewarded, and your reward will come soon. Before morning you will have captured the murderer of Craig and William. I know you would rather capture the Gray Phantom, but this will be a quite a satisfactory consolation prize."

The lieutenant eyed him with a narrow, doubting glance. "You talk big," he remarked dryly. "I'll give you till daylight to make good. If nothing comes along to change my mind in the meantime, I hand you over to Bowman on a double charge of murder."

"Fair enough. Would you mind seeing if the window and the shutters are properly locked?"

Culligore grumbled, but complied.

"Thank you," said Vanardy. "The setting is now exactly as it was the night Craig was murdered. The only difference is in the cast of characters. You are taking Craig's place, and I am taking Bell's."

The lieutenant winced a trifle.

"Don't be alarmed," said Vanardy with a chuckle. "I meant that only in the sense that you are sitting where Craig sat while I am in the chair Bell occupied that night. I fancy the outcome will be quite different this time."

"Well, I should hope so," mumbled the lieutenant. "That was quite a neat get-away you and Miss Hardwick pulled off this morning. How did you do it?"

"You will see soon enough. It was very simple, though—as simple as passing through a turnstile in the New York subway."

"Except that you didn't have to pay a nickel?"

Vanardy smiled noncommittally.

"Oh, all right," muttered the lieutenant. "Be as mysterious as you like. You gave yourself away, though, when you made that get-away. You demonstrated that you know a way out of this room that nobody else knows."

"Not bad logic, Culligore. I suppose it is useless to tell you that I discovered the way while you were pounding on the door?"

"It sounds pretty thin. Several other people have spent hours looking for a secret exit from this room. You mean to tell me you found it in a few minutes?"

"I did. You see, I had certain advantages that the others lacked. For one thing, one's mind works very quickly in tense moments. You think of things that would never occur to you in a calmer mood. But I hope to convince you before long. Unless I miss my guess, you will soon discover that I am not the only one who knows a secret way in and out of this room. Will that satisfy you?"

"It will go a long way. In the meantime I'm going to keep my eyes on you. If you make a single false move—" He looked meaningfully at the pistol lying before him.

Vanardy laughed. "You die hard, Culligore. What do Stanhope and Bell think about the murders by this time?"

The lieutenant scowled bewilderedly. "I can't dope either of them out—Stanhope, especially. He acts mighty queer. And Bell is raving all the time. He sprang a funny one a little while ago. Said maybe Julia Wayne murdered her uncle."

"Well, it isn't such an unreasonable theory."

Then he cracked another one. He said there was a chance that Jack Frey—the man mentioned in some of the letters Craig received—might be the murderer. "That's a rather sensational idea. But we don't have to speculate, Culligore. We shall know in a short time. I see the fire is going out. Don't you think we had better turn out the light and snatch a few winks?"

Before Culligore could reply, he rose leisurely and pulled at the chain attached to the bulb in the chandelier. The room was dark save for a wavering glow in the fireplace.

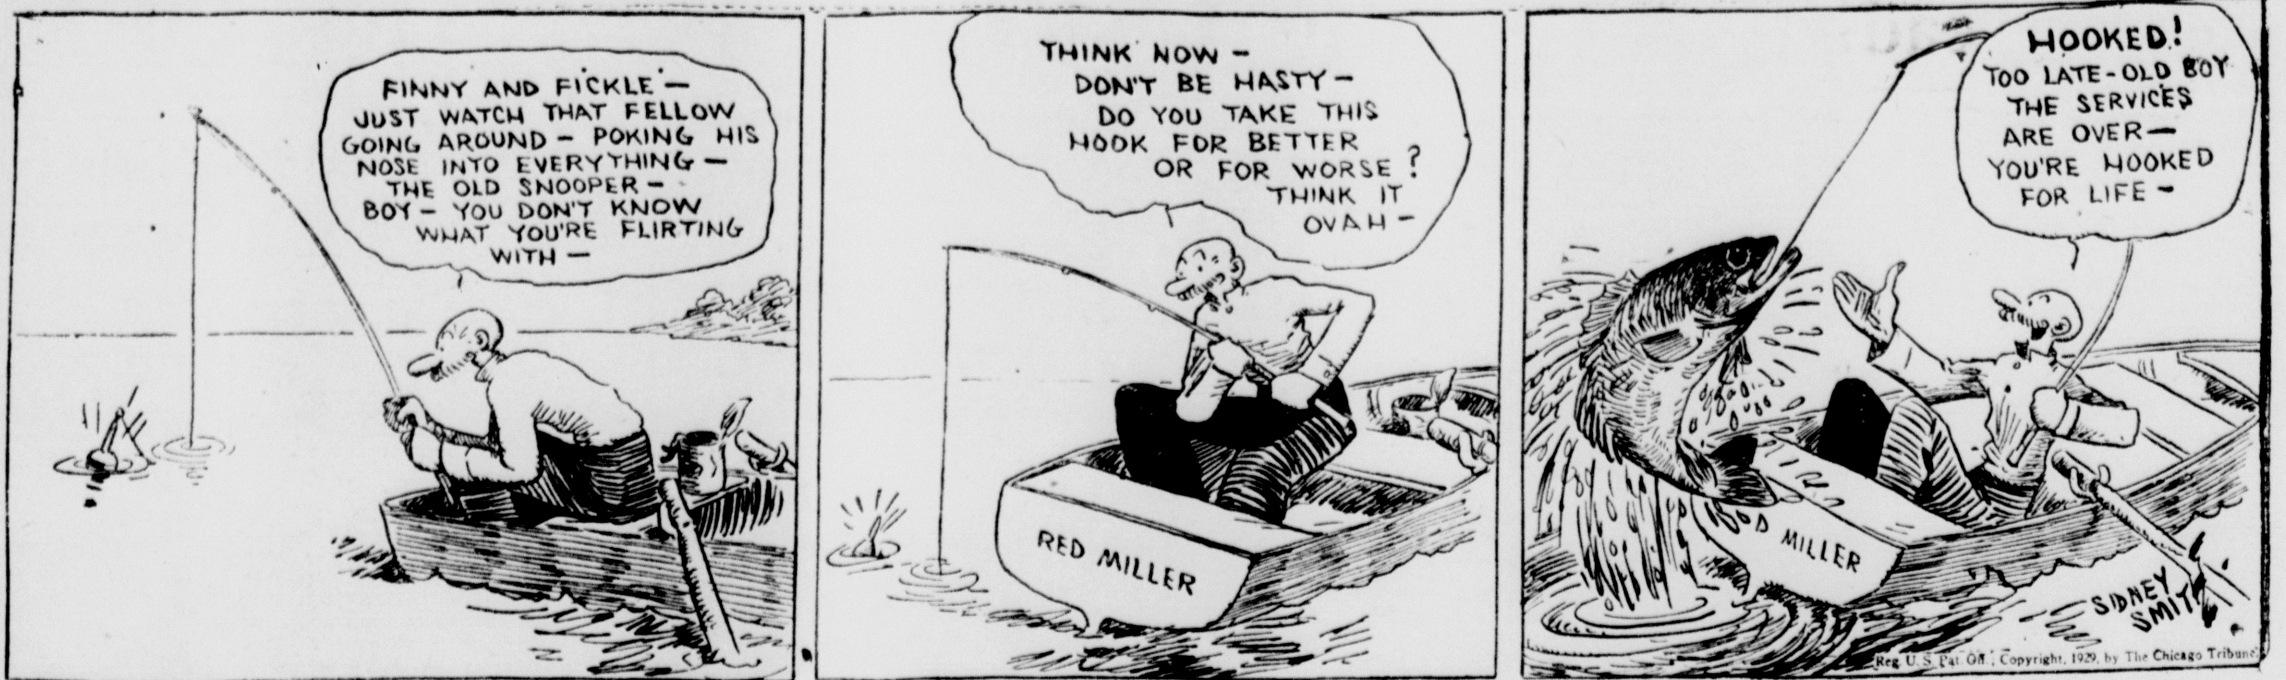

"If you try any tricks—" began the lieutenant.

Vanardy sat down again. "I wouldn't have your suspicious nature for worlds, Culligore. Let me remind you again that I came back to Tuckaway Camp voluntarily. I expect we shall have an interruption before long. Please sit absolutely still and don't let on that there is more than one of us in the room. We want to give the ghost every chance."

The lieutenant's response was an unintelligible matter. The blue barrel of his pistol gleamed faintly in the dusk. The clock on the mantel emitted two dulcet peals, and then there were no other sounds than the creaking of timbers and the incessant din of rain and wind. A few feeble wisps of flame wriggled among the ashes in the fireplace.

State Control Board Moves to Save Funds

Greater Efficiency Urged at Conference With Heads of State Supported Institutions.

CHESTER, W. Va., July 24.—Representatives of 33 state institutions attended the conference called by the state board of control yesterday at Charleston, when uniform methods of handling funds appropriated by the legislature were discussed.

State Auditor Edgar C. Lawson emphasized "more cooperation and efficiency" in relationship of the educational and penal institutions with the auditor's office and the board of control. Savings of thousands of dollars, he said, might be realized in more careful attention to discounts in cases where the full purchase by an institution was not received.

Others who spoke were Secretary of State George W. Sharp, State Treasurer W. S. Johnson and John W. Smith, commissioner of agriculture.

STATE FACTORY INSPECTOR HERE

Robert C. Logan, of Charleston, state factory inspector, visited Hancock county plants this week on a check-up of the child labor law enforcement.

The age limit for children working in industries, with the exception of agriculture and domestic service, is 16 years. Certified birth certificates must be presented at time of employment. Children must have at least six years of grade education.

The state laws specify that no child under the age of 16 who must of necessity labor, shall work more than 48 hours a week and more than eight hours a day.

Trade Board Meets Thursday. Members of the Board of Trade will meet tomorrow night in the council chamber of city hall. Routine business will be transacted. R. A. Douglass will preside.

Mrs. Walton Picnic Hostess. Mrs. Dean Walton, of Carolina avenue, entertained a number of young people at a picnic yesterday afternoon on the Fairview road, near Chester.

Federal Agents Visit County. P. J. Doerr, P. W. Barr, R. A. Sager and J. A. Beckett, federal prohibition agents, accompanied by State Agent Alonzo Prince made a tour this week of Hancock and Brooke counties, but their visit failed to result in any arrests.

Studebaker's new DICTATOR SIX

115 INCH WHEELBASE

Larger... smarter... costs less!

$995
AT THE FACTORY

No Studebaker closed car in history ever sold for so little—or ever offered greater dollar value—than the New Dictator Six, smart companion car to Studebaker's recently announced Dictator Straight Eight! More style—in line, in color, in fitments! Finer performance! Greater riding, driving ease! Feature after feature that prove its fine-car quality! Read, below, the remarkable value Studebaker's unique One-Profit manufacturing advantage has given you in this great New Dictator Six.

115-inch wheelbase.

Rubber engine mountings and bronze-backed and babbit-faced crankshaft bearings provide maximum life and smoothness.

Lanchester vibration dampener.

Oil filter, gasoline filter and crankcase ventilating system insure maximum engine efficiency.

Fuel pump insures constant, adequate flow of gasoline, regardless of speed or grade.

Thermostatically controlled cooling system retards flow of water until motor has reached precisely correct temperature for highest operating efficiency.

Double-drop frame of new compound flange design—far costlier but sturdier, safer and permitting graceful lowness of body lines.

Hydraulic shock absorbers, front and rear. Genuine mohair upholstery.

Full-vision, full-ventilated bodies of steel over hardwood foundation—the accepted fine car coachcraft.

One-piece steel core safety steering wheel.

Adjustable steering wheel and front seat. Amplified-action 4-wheel brakes which stop The Dictator in half the distance accepted as standard.

Tarnish-proof chromium plating over nickel on all exterior brightwork.

Coincidental lock to ignition and steering assures Dictator owners lowest theft insurance rates.

The Dictator may be driven 40 miles per hour the day it is delivered—the result of advanced engineering, precision workmanship and careful inspection.
